IMPROVING TEACHING KNOWLEDGE, METHODS AND SKILLS

Nelson Professional Development Workshop 2017

PRESENTED BY STEPHEN GRAHAM

GUIDED READING IN THE CLASSROOM

Guided Reading is a strategy used to teach children how to be balanced readers. Guided Reading sessions involve a teacher working with a group of children focusing on identified objectives and strategies to be taught through the course of a twenty-minute session. Children are usually grouped by matching them to levelled texts.

This session will focus on matching children to texts and organising the classroom for Guided Reading.

We will cover the following:

- Teaching strategies for reading: Modelled and Shared Reading, Guided Reading and Independent Reading
- Guided and Independent Reading strategies to support and extend student learning
- What the Guided Reading process involves
- Guided Reading within the Literacy Block
- Classroom organisation
- Guided Reading book levels
- Benchmarking students using running records
- Using a running record effectively
